DB Control wins up to $6M defense contract

East Bay Business Times

DB Control, Inc. said Wednesday it won an initial $1.1 million defense contract that could reach another $4 million to $5 million over the next year.

The Fremont-based company, which focuses on high-power microwave amplifiers, radar transmitters and power supplies, said the contract calls for coupled-cavity Traveling Wave Tube amplifiers to be used for radar applications.

Earlier this year, the company announced three contracts worth nearly $8 million to provide high-power TWT amplifiers and microwave power modules to defense contractors supplying the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Force.
